Events List

Lectures & Events

Evening Lecture & Book Launch
Eyal Weizman in conversation with John Palmesino
Forensic Architecture: Violence at the Threshold of Detectability
Tuesday 30 May, 6.30
Lecture Hall
Forensic Architecture provides an in-depth introduction to the history, assumptions and potential of an investigative practice of architecture. Through case studies, Eyal Weizman explains how the Forensic Architecture team uses its research and investigative methods to confront state propaganda and secrets and to expose ever-new forms of state violence.

Members' Walking Tour
London's Street Trees: A Field Guide to the Urban Forest
Wednesday 31 May, 6.30
Meet at 36 Bedford Square
Coinciding with London Tree Week 2017 and the launch of Paul Wood's new book, London's Street Trees: A Field Guide to the Urban Forest, Members and students are invited on a walking tour, setting off from the AA, to explore London's urban forest. Looking specifically at street trees and their impact on the cityscape, Paul Wood will provide a brief history of urban trees and their use in planning from the nineteenth century onwards and offer some thoughts on best practices for planners and architects. Taking in streets around the school in Bloomsbury and Fitzrovia, coincidentally spanning two boroughs – Westminster and Camden – we will look at trees in situ, highlighting their impact on the city, the differences between local authority planting, and the remarkable variety of species to be found.

This event is free for AA Members and students, but registration is necessary via the Members' event page

Book Signing
Robert Maxwell & Anthony Vidler
The Time of My Life in Architecture
Thursday 1 June, 6.30
AA Bookshop
Emeritus Professor and formerly Dean of Architecture at Princeton, this is a personal autobiographical journey through the postwar world by one of its key protagonists.

The book presents a rich mixture of interpretive insight, informed opinion and anecdote on the culture of modern architecture and the people making it – including architects such as Michael Graves, Peter Eisenman, Richard Meier, Robert Venturi and Denise Scott Brown and, on a visit to Cuba, Che Guevara.

Join us for a drinks reception and book signing with Robert Maxwell and Anthony Vidler to celebrate this new publication. Launch Price £20 (RRP £24.95)

Symposium
Global Architecture Political Event London, organised by Alejandro Zaera-Polo & Guillermo Fernandez-Abascal
Friday 2 June, 6pm
Lecture Hall

Global Architectural Political Events are a series of public debates that investigate the political re-engagement of the discipline, as analysed in Alejandro Zaera-Polo's essay, 'Well into the 21st Century' and the 'Global Architectural Compass'. The discussions will take place across different cities around the world throughout 2017.
